

About the Journal

Journal of Studies in the English Language (jSEL) is a double-blind peer-reviewed journal published biannually by the Department of English and Linguistics, Faculty of Liberal Arts, Thammasat University, Thailand. The journal provides a forum for those interested in new ideas in all aspects of English language studies. We welcome original manuscripts of research studies, academic papers, commentaries and reviews in the following areas:

- Intercultural Communication
- Literary & Cultural Studies
- Translation and Translation Studies
- Corpus Linguistics
- English Language Teaching
- Applied Linguistics
- World Englishes
- Assessment & Evaluation
- Technology and Language

jSEL publishes 2 volumes per year, No. 1 during January – June, and No. 2 during July – December.